Overall Impression

Wanzai Social Institute has many children, and handicapped children make up the majority, especially those with cerebral palsy, cleft lip, heart disease, or mental retardation. The institute has about 19 children that are taken care of there, and another 60 are in foster homes. The institute has staff and administrators do regular checkups to see how the children's situations are developing. (See picture 1, an institute-sponsored child)

The Wanazai Social Institute Children's Building is not yet complete, but the exterior is looking good and the interior will be under construction shortly. We learned from workers at the institute that the plan is, if the children are going to live in the building, to have it in a family-style situation. Each "household" would have 3-6 kids and have one father and one mother, etc., to take care of daily life.
